*"Enter into His gates with Thanksgiving,
And into His courts with praise."
(Psalms 100:4)*

This verse from the Psalms is inscribed in Hebrew above the center doors leading into our beautiful Temple. It inspired the Scroll editorial staff to select a photograph of the Temple gates and courtyard for the cover of this annual edition of the Scroll. We pray that it will be more than just a lovely picture decorating the cover of our Religious School Annual.

May it remind us that when we enter these gates and this courtyard - - the Temple and the Temple House - - we are in a sacred place. We should enter with joy and thanksgiving for God's many blessings. We should enter with reverence and respect. May this photograph remind us also that Judaism teaches us to conduct ourselves with reverence and respect, not only within the gates of the Temple, but everywhere. Wherever we may be, may our conduct help to make that place as beautiful and sacred as the courtyard of God's house.

We congratulate the members of the Confirmation Class and the High School class graduates for the high standards they maintained throughout the year. We welcome the new members of the Honor Cup Society who received their kiddush Cup awards this year. We express our appreciation to the editor, the staff and the advisor of this fine Scroll. We commend the entire student body for a year of worthwhile achievement in the rich experience of Jewish learning and living at Emanu-El.

Now all of us, your Rabbis, Cantor and Teachers - - the Board of Directors, Officers and Religious School Committee - the Executive Secretary and the Temple Office Staff join in wishing you and your families a very enjoyable vacation.

Excerpts from a Meditation by Chaya Janofsky

Winter, Spring, Summer, Fall. The four seasons. The four cycles through which man in his physical world passes, has passed, will continue to pass. From its beginning to its end, this is the order of nature. The order of Man's religious life is also a cycle of seasons, of Winter, Spring, Summer, Fall.

.....In our religious experience, we too grow, at times slowly, due to lack of care. The Summer is the time when we must grow to understand what it is we have learned. We have to find out if what we have been taught is right for us, we must grow up to ourselves, Judaism, and more importantly to God. Like the growth of the bud into a beautiful flower, or fruit, this is at times hard; we doubt, we question our learnings and our elders. We use the trial and error system in the determination of ourselves and the values we shall carry with us. We have been taught where we have been, and now we seek to know where we are going.

And then comes the Autumn, the reaping and harvesting of the crop, the mellow and peaceful time. In the religious life of each man there is an Autumn, a harvesting, a peace. It comes when with doubt and questioning he has arrived at the truth, and is at peace with himself and his God. His harvest is the knowledge which he has come to understand through growth, through the Spring and Summer, through the experiences of those around him and his own experience.

I have gone through three cycles, I await the fourth. I am in the Summer. I now wonder where I am going? And is Judaism going to lead me there? But I have behind me my answer. I have sat ten years in Sunday School. At times I did not want to sit, and refused to listen, but after ten years, a little does stay. I know of our history, a proud history, of the holidays which commemorate and consecrate that history. I spent three years in Confirmation and Post-Confirmation learning what the word Jew really means, what being a Jew really entails. This I have learned, this is the answer to my doubts. Growth comes through living. I need now the experience of life to show me the truth of the wisdom of Judaism.

As we go forward into our next grade, we expect to learn many more things and to make many more friends."

"This year has meant a great deal to me, as have all my teaching years. More than ever I find that love is the best thing in the world - the most rewarding. Knowledge is not enough. But love, showing clearly in actions and deeds, can make for a happier school life for the children and for the teacher. There never will be, and I doubt if there ever has been, a class problem that love and understanding cannot conquer."

"This year has meant a lot to us. We are glad we came to Sunday School because we made new friends and learned many new things. We learned to read a language entirely different from English - the language of Israel and the language of our Prayer Book - Hebrew. We learned the Ten Commandments and what they mean - we learned about the different Jewish Holidays and about the Jewish religion. The Chapel Services taught us about friendship and kindness. And we had fun folk dancing and seeing plays. We liked Sunday School!"

THE SABBATH

Wherefore the children of Israel shall keep the Sabbath, to observe the Sabbath throughout their generations, for a perpetual covenant. It is a sign between Me and the children of Israel forever, for in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, and on the seventh day He ceased from work and rested. — Exodus 31:16-17.

The reception given by the Congregation to the alteration work performed over the last year to the Temple House, is most gratifying to the Architect and the Contractor.

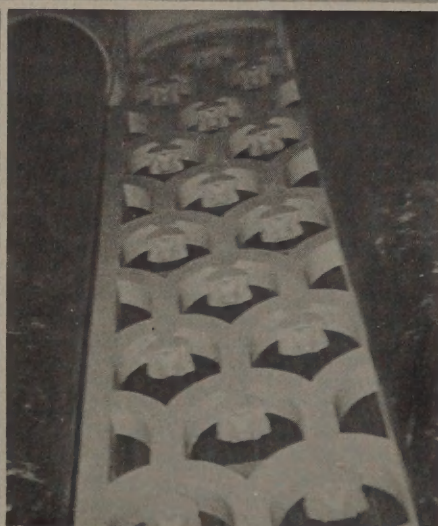

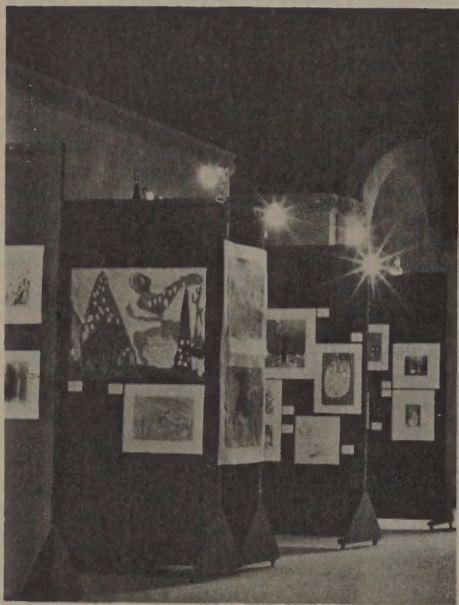

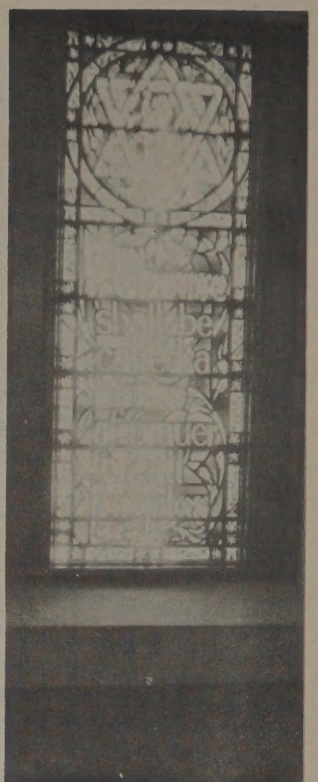

In 1926, when the drawings were made for the original building, things were different! When the Temple House was first built, the Main Floor had a large reception room and two classrooms, and the floor above it had four classrooms which were lost when the Chapel was built in 1939. We cannot imagine our Temple House without the Chapel today!

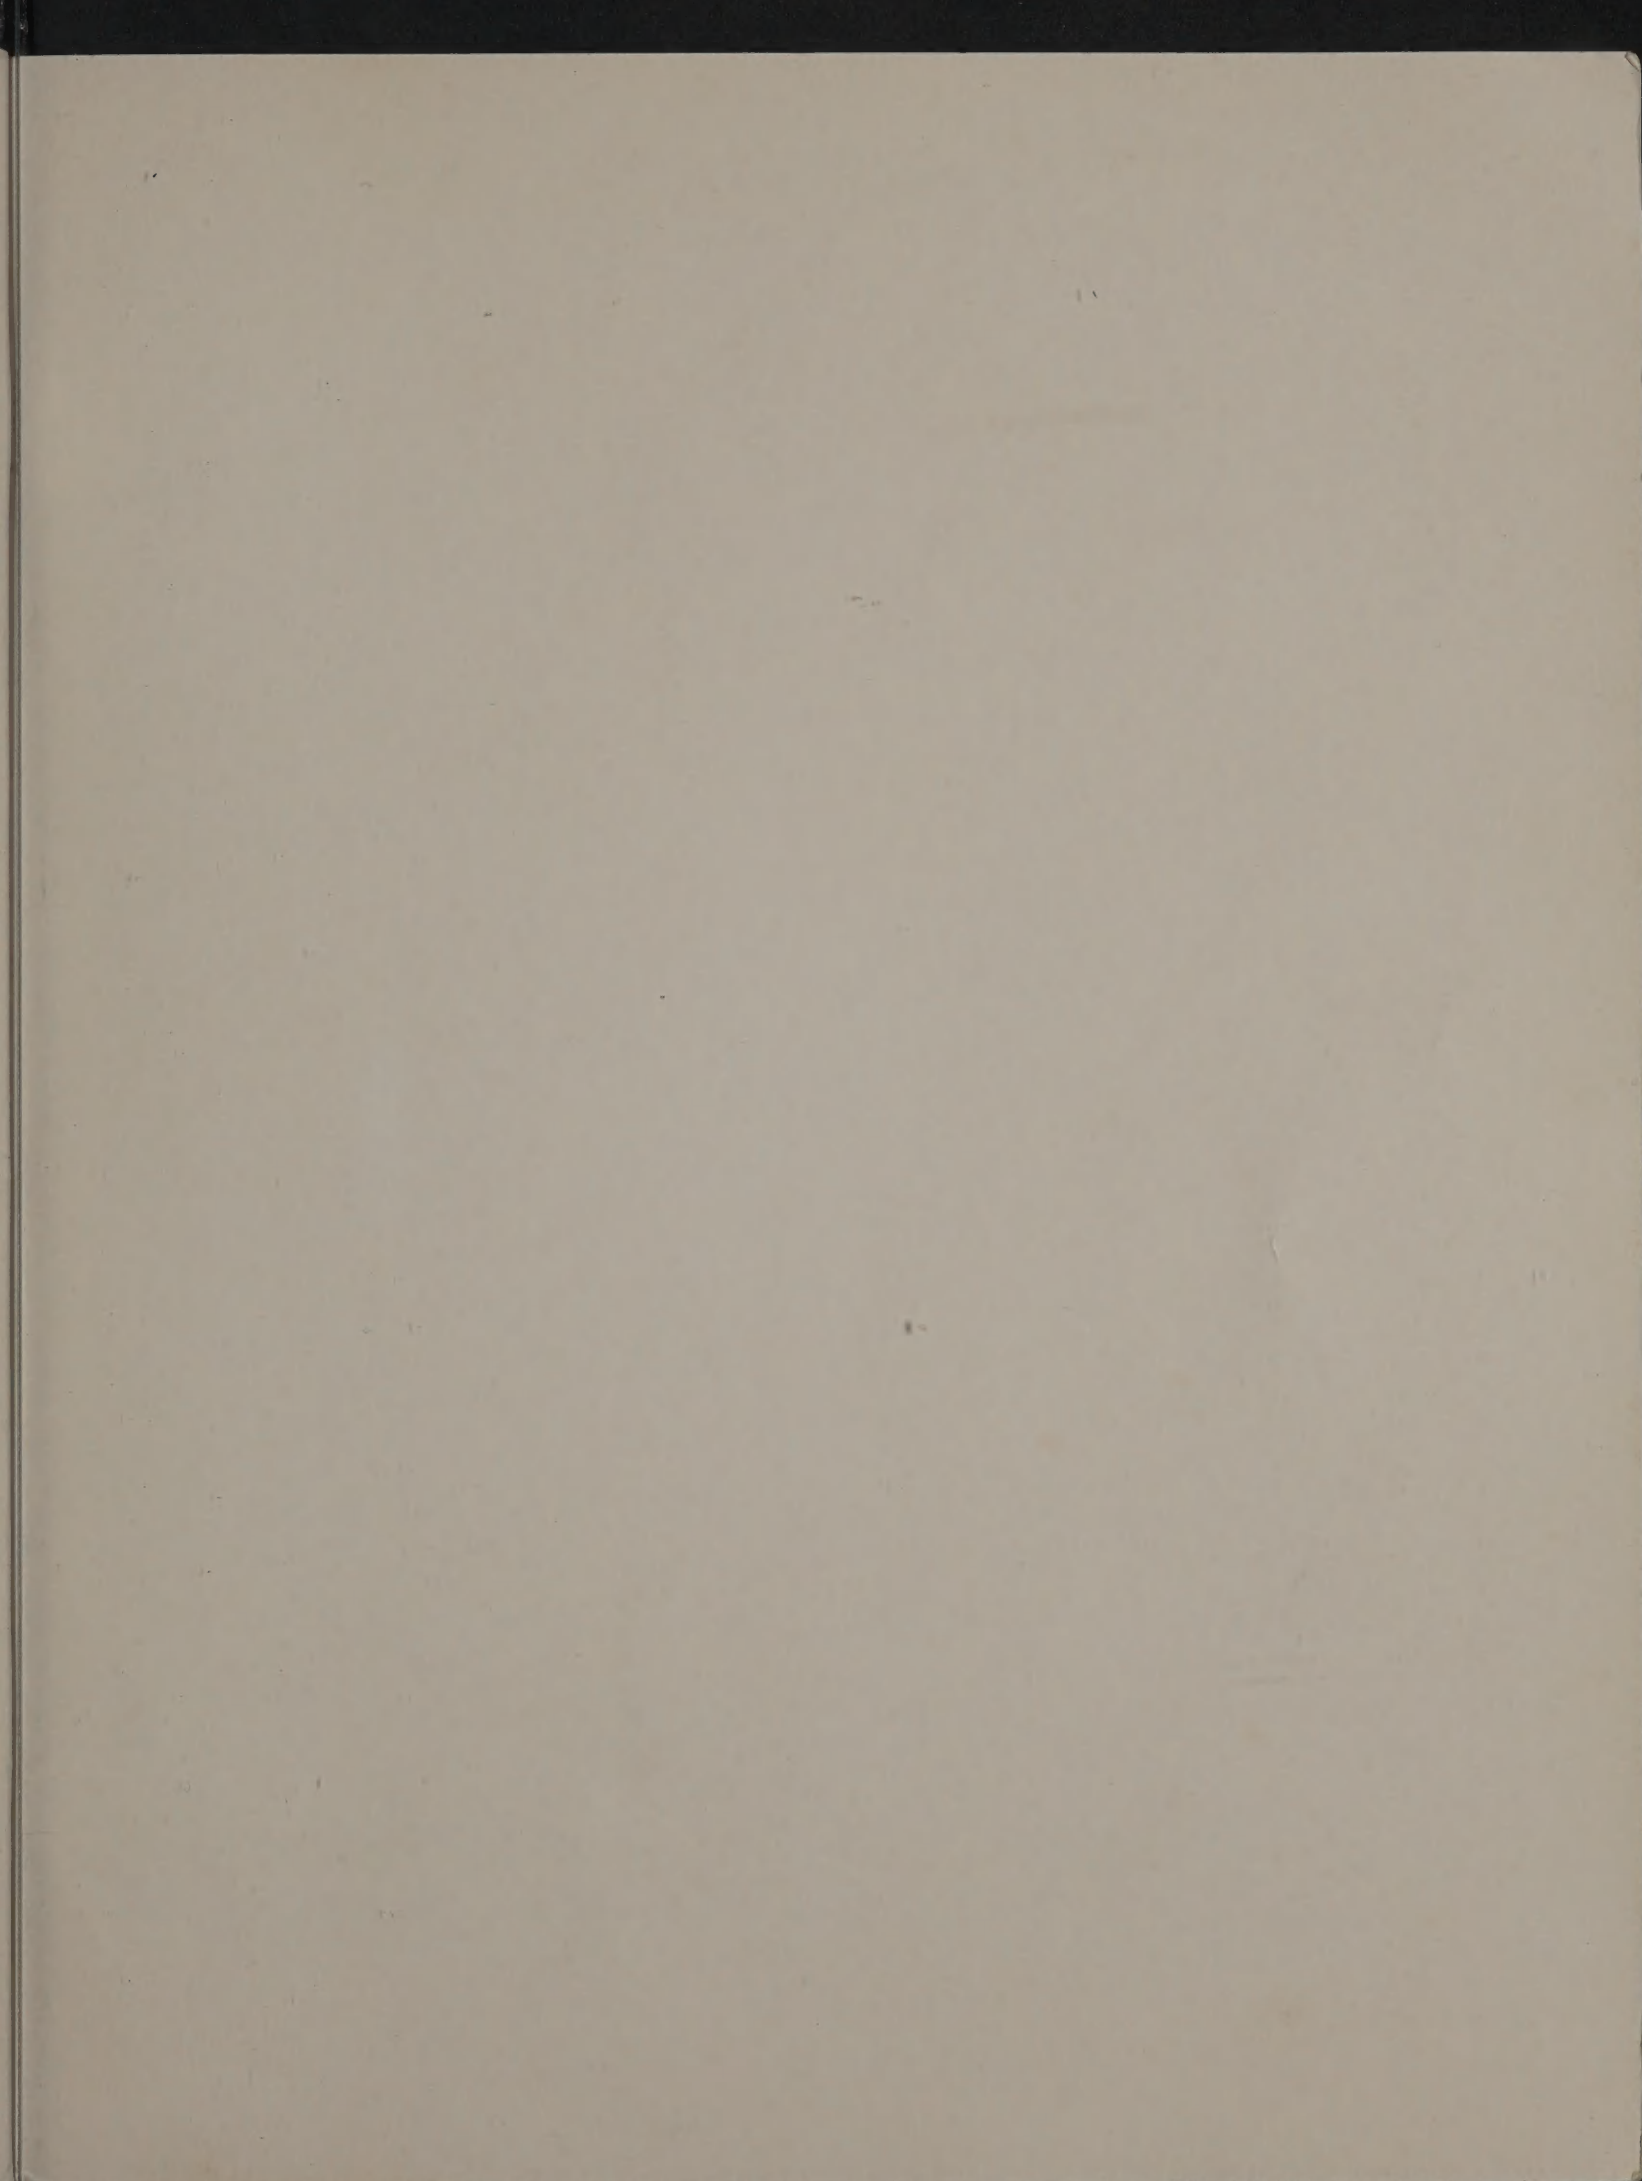

The Congregation has grown constantly. More and more children enroll in our Religious School. Every room in the Temple and the Temple House has been pushed into service. The time came when there was no other place to house classes. It was regretfully decided that Guild Hall and its adjoining kitchen would have to be sacrificed to classrooms. From this area, seven modern classrooms could be made and two small classrooms could be enlarged to house a whole class. This was done.

The new classrooms are different in shape, so that teachers and students might come closer together. The wall colors were chosen to give interest and enjoyment; the walls were built to isolate sounds from neighboring classes, and the ceilings built to give sound control within the classrooms.

In using the Top Floor area for classrooms, it was necessary to find an area for all functions that had been housed there. The gymnasium had little use as a regular gym. Although there were technical difficulties involved, ways were found to overcome problems of light and sound. The kitchen was remodeled, cases added for storage, and a magic door weighing over six tons was installed. Now, the old gym, which we are sorry to have lost, has become our fresh bright Guild Hall, the center of our social activities.
